Good alt text is descriptive while remaining concise:

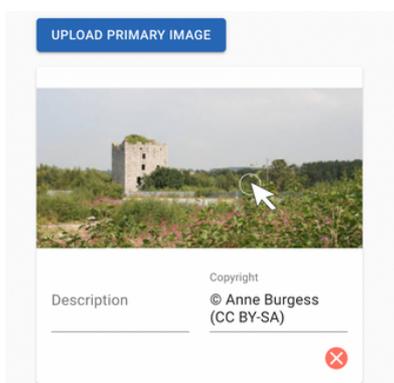

e.g 'Pancakes' ✗

e.g 'A stack of blueberry pancakes with sugar' ✓

Saving your Listing

When editing your listing, you'll notice two buttons at the bottom of each section: 'Save as Draft' and 'Publish' or 'Submit for Review'. Please read below to find out what each button does, and when to use it.

SAVE AS DRAFT

Saves all data added to the listing but does not make it visible on the website/app. Use this button to save any changes made to the listing that you aren't ready to publish yet.

SUBMIT FOR REVIEW

This button sends the Administrators a notification that you would like to publish your listing. They will then review and approve your content before it appears on the website. Click this button only once you are sure your listing is ready to be viewed by the public.

Remember, once published, you can always make new changes in the same way as previously outlined.

UPDATE

If you are updating a listing that is already published, the save button will instead say 'Update'

Time taken for changes to appear

Please note that new listings and/or edits made to existing listings will not appear instantly on websites & apps, but will appear the next morning. This is because the app is updated once a day, at around 1am.

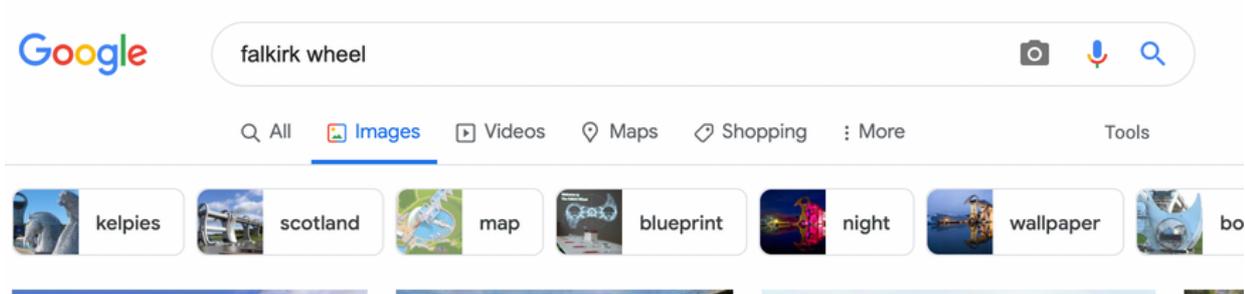

E.g. If a change is made to listing and 'Saved' at 2pm on Thursday, the changes will only be visible on the app on Friday morning.

Appendix 1 - Image Copyright

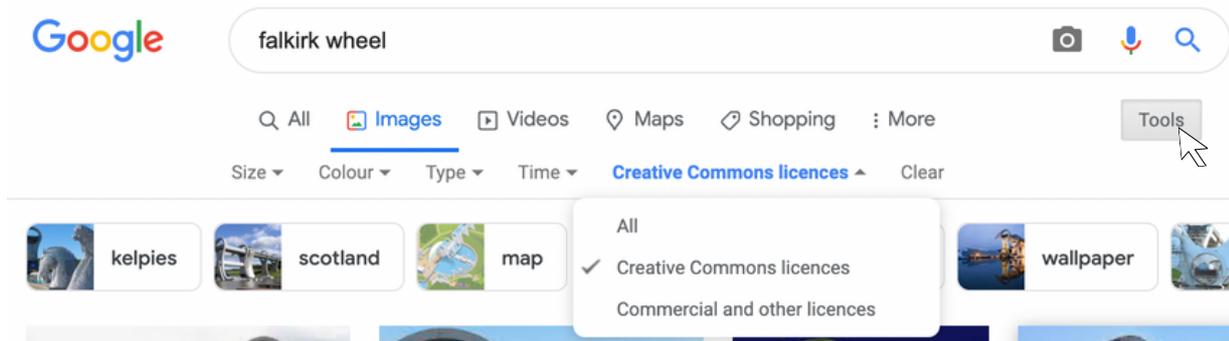

All images uploaded to My Whereverly must adhere to copyright law. If you are struggling to find original images to use, you can, on some occasions, find images that are free to use online. Below are details on how to do this:

1. On Google Images, search for the subject of your image, e.g. 'Falkirk Wheel'

2. Next, click the 'Tools' button on the right and under the 'Usage Rights' dropdown, select 'Creative Commons licenses'

3. Select your image. On the source website, find the recommended 'attribution'. This is usually provided by the website and should look something like the attributions featured below:

e.g. Photo © Mat Fascione \(cc-by-sa/2.0\) or Iain Smith / The Falkirk Wheel at Night / CC BY-SA 2.0

4. Finally, download your image onto your computer, then upload it only My Whereverly. Remember to add the attribution to the 'copyright' box of the image card.

Appendix 2 - Example Listings

Examples of a good short description:

Description

A charming independent shop located on the shore of Loch an Eilein, selling home wear, handmade soap, locally crafted wood-work and snacks including icecream.

Description

Walk in the footsteps of early Christian pilgrims at this ruined chapel, named for St Columba's tutor.

These descriptions are concise, informative and inspire the reader to want to learn more about the business.

Example of a short description that could be improved:

Description

Shop in Edinburgh.

This description could be improved by including more information about what makes the listing unique, such as: 'A boutique shop selling a range of Men and Women's clothing from Scotland.'

Example of a good long description:

Extended Description

The Hippodrome is an arts space where people of all ages can meet to enjoy theatre, music, exhibitions, poetry and film in the picturesque fishing town of Eyemouth. It is run by Hippodrome Arts CIC Ltd and alongside a changing programme of events offers courses, talks, concerts, film screenings and activities to visitors and the community. From Autumn to early Summer the Hippodrome runs its season of live music concerts with an eclectic programme of folk, jazz, roots and blues. It has become a popular meeting place with a free open mic session Bare Roots on the fourth Tuesday of each month.

This description provides the reader with a variety of information that helps them understand exactly what the point of interest is, what they can do there and when is good to visit. It is detailed but not overly long.
